TriMas Publishes 2025 Sustainability Report

August 4, 2026

Achieves Key Environmental Milestones and Expands Climate Disclosure

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 4, 2026-- TriMas (NASDAQ: TRS) today announced the release of its 2025 Sustainability Report, highlighting meaningful progress across the Company's environmental, social and governance (ESG) priorities. During 2025, TriMas surpassed its 2030 greenhouse gas emissions and water withdrawal intensity reduction targets ahead of schedule, and published its first Scope 3 greenhouse gas emissions inventory, expanding transparency across its value chain.

“At TriMas, sustainability is an important part of how we operate, innovate and create long-term value," said Thomas Snyder, TriMas President and Chief Executive Officer. "We continue to strengthen our capabilities, enhance transparency and embed sustainability considerations into our decision-making across the business. By focusing on operational excellence, responsible resource management and product innovation, we are positioning TriMas to meet the evolving needs of our customers and stakeholders."

2025 Sustainability Highlights

Key accomplishments featured in the Company's 2025 Sustainability Report include:

- Achieved and surpassed 2030 intensity-based greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets ahead of schedule.
- Achieved and surpassed 2030 water withdrawal reduction targets ahead of schedule.
- Published TriMas' first Scope 3 greenhouse gas emissions inventory, establishing a baseline for future measurement and reduction efforts.
- Continued to strengthen environmental data collection, management and reporting capabilities.
- Advanced innovative product solutions focused on recyclability, material efficiency, circularity and performance.
- Continued alignment with leading sustainability frameworks and initiatives, including the United Nations Global Compact, CDP and the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD).

Positioning for Continued Progress

Following the divestiture of TriMas Aerospace, the Company is establishing updated environmental baselines and evaluating future targets that reflect its current portfolio. TriMas will continue to focus on improving sustainability data quality, driving operational efficiencies and developing products that help customers meet their own sustainability objectives.

The Company is also evaluating alignment with the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) and expanding its use of tools such as Life Cycle Assessments (LCAs) and Product Carbon Footprint (PCF) analyses to strengthen decision-making and better understand environmental impacts across its value chain.

"Our focus remains on delivering measurable results and building on the progress we have achieved," Snyder added. "We are committed to advancing circular product solutions, increasing the use of recycled and lower-impact materials, improving resource efficiency and strengthening our sustainability reporting. We believe long-term value creation is supported by transparency, collaboration and a commitment to continuous improvement."
